

Urology service

Get specialist support for kidney or bladder worries, online

1 in 2 of us will be diagnosed with a urology condition in our lifetime.¹

If you're over 18 and have a referral from your GP, you can get your health concerns checked out quickly by a consultant urologist, from the convenience of your own home. The consultant urologist will review your online assessment and aim to advise on next steps, usually within three working days.

This is a specialist-led service delivered by HBSUK, who are part of the AXA Group. You'll see the name HBSUK when you use the service.

Key benefits of this service

- ✓ Fast access to assessments and support
A specialist will aim to get back to you usually within three working days of you completing your online assessment.
- ✓ Specialist care
From the specialists who designed the service, to the specialist supporting you, there's always a real human on the other side of the screen. A specialist will review your online assessment and advise on next steps. You can have a phone or video appointment after your assessment, if you'd like to talk things through.
- ✓ Fast reassurance
Hearing back on the next steps for you within days can mean less time spent feeling uncertain about your health.
- ✓ Convenience
With online assessments and appointments, you can be connected to a specialist, from anywhere in the country. With less time and expense spent travelling to in-person appointments.
- ✓ Easy symptom sharing
To make it easy for you to explain what is worrying you, you can complete an online clinical assessment. This can help if you find it tricky talking about certain symptoms. You can also upload documents such as photos to help explain your symptoms.
- ✓ Considered recommendations
The detailed online assessment covers everything the specialist will need to know, so there is no time pressure to explain everything. All this information means the specialist can make considered recommendations for your care.

Using the service will count as a consultation, and affect any out-patient limit, specialist consultation limit, or any contribution you normally make towards treatment each year. We can check your plan and let you know what is or isn't covered.

How to access your service

1. Speak to a GP. If you've got kidney or bladder worries that won't go away, the first step is to speak to a GP. If they refer you to a consultant urologist, you can get started. Contact us and you will be provided with an option to use the online Urology service.
2. Set up or log in to your HBSUK online account. If you're setting up a new account you'll need your email address and membership number, which you can find on your membership documents.
3. Complete your assessment. Answer some questions to help the urologist understand your symptoms. You may have already provided some of these details to us, but this step is important to help HBSUK give you the best care and support.
4. Get support, fast. The consultant urologist will review your online assessment and send a personalised report usually within three working days. If you'd like to discuss the findings, you can have a phone or video call afterwards. If you need further tests or treatment, you'll get advice on what to do next.
